Bon voyage, Mr. Roberts! by Don John, 28 June 2012

Let all conservatives join together and wish Chief Justice John Roberts bon voyage as he sails off into his new life as a liberal.

Some pundits are saying that in upholding ObamaCare (the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act) by calling its insurance mandate a tax instead of the regulation of interstate commerce, he has cleverly managed to square some kind of circle and preserve the integrity of the Supreme Court.

We've got some news for Roberts. The Supreme Court hasn't had any integrity since 1973, when it cynically decided that murdering babies is some kind of universal right. And his "clever" splitting of hairs will soon become an abject failure, because bargains with the Left are never worth anything for long. Leftists will always say anything, and concede anything—until the moment they can seize enough power to kill yet another portion of the people's liberty.

Back in 1982, President Reagan made a deal with a Democrat House that was led by his "friend," the bulbous-nosed Speaker Tip O'Neill. In exchange for a tax increase, the Dems would make some major budget cuts. Naturally, the tax increase happened, but the budget cuts did not. O'Neill had lied. That's just what liberals do.

Ronald Reagan really thought he had a deal. He wasn't intentionally double-crossing the American people. But after 30 more years of leftist lies, the Chief Justice should have known better. Worst of all, he had an opportunity to side with Justices Scalia, Kennedy, Thomas, and Alito in voting to kill not just the mandate, but the whole nightmare of ObamaCare in its entirety. He blew it, willfully.

So now John Roberts is leaving the people and going to live among his new friends, the subhumans. That's an accurate term for creatures like Ginsburg, Breyer, Kagan, Sotomayor, Obama, and all the rest—because they lie, steal, and destroy so much that they have no more humanity than Lenin, Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini, Mao, the Castros, Guevara, or "Pol Pot and others," including Senator Durbin.

G.W. Bush and John McCain routinely allowed the Dems to smear conservatives without a peep of opposition. We've all noticed lately that Mitt Romney isn't letting that happen. In most instances, he and his campaign are quick to refute the lies spewed by the Dems and the MSM—and then counter-attack, to boot.

The rest of us should do the same. We should continue to seek redress in the courts—but not to expect salvation from them. Lawfare is certainly one of the weapons that we need to employ, just as Marxists, Fascists, and Islamists do. But we must also redouble our efforts to thwart, obstruct, and defeat them at every opportunity.

The enemy we face today, freedom-killing Statism, is no less a threat to liberty than the one Winston Churchill spoke of on 4 June 1940, in the wake of Dunkirk. We must fight our enemy in precisely the same way, and never again surrender as John Roberts has done so cravenly.

What should Americans do after the Supreme Court ObamaCare ruling?

We can still reclaim our freedoms.

A sign of an undisciplined mind is serial lapses into self-contradiction, or blurting out a thought only to refute it entirely on a later occasion. Egypt: a Muslim Brotherhood president does not prove that we are all ‘chimps’

by Barry Rubin, 25 June 2012

...Even the “chimps” refuse to acknowledge the extremism of the Brotherhood, the most significant anti-American, antisemitic group in the entire world today. They ignore the fully documented fact that al-Mursi campaigned on a basis of hatred for America, fundamentally transforming Egypt into a Sharia state, going to war with Israel, and spreading revolution throughout the region. At this very moment, for example, the U.S. government is supporting a Brotherhood-led puppet group as the leadership of the Syrian uprising and arming its forces. Yet within Egypt itself the outcome is not clear at all. There are as many options as there are rumors in Cairo. Remember that there is no Egyptian constitution, no parliament, and no timetable for electing a new parliament. The powers of the president are not defined...

Victory on Okinawa

April 1 to June 21, 1945

The aircraft carrier USS Bunker Hill, after being hit by two kamikaze planes within 30 seconds on May 11. Very heavily damaged, she was repaired in the U.S. and remained afloat (in various classifications) until 1973.

The Battle of Okinawa, codenamed Operation Iceberg, was fought on the Ryukyu Islands of Okinawa and was the largest amphibious assault in the Pacific War. The 82-day-long battle lasted from early April until mid-June, 1945.

The battle has been referred to as the "Typhoon of Steel" in English, and tetsu no ame ("rain of steel") or tetsu no bōfū ("violent wind of steel") in Japanese. The nicknames refer to the ferocity of the fighting, the intensity of gunfire involved, and to the sheer numbers of Allied ships and armored vehicles that assaulted the island. The battle resulted in one of the highest number of casualties of any World War II engagement. Japan lost over 100,000 troops, and the Allies suffered more than 50,000 casualties. Simultaneously, more than 100,000 civilians (12,000 in action) were killed, wounded, or committed suicide. Approximately one-quarter of the civilian population died due to the invasion. Five divisions of the U.S. Tenth Army, the 7th, 27th, 77th, 81st, and 96th, and two Marine Divisions, the 1st and 6th, fought on the island while the 2nd Marine Division remained as an amphibious reserve and was never brought ashore. The invasion was supported by naval, amphibious, and tactical air forces.

The main objective of the operation was to seize a large island only 340 miles away from mainland Japan. After a long campaign of island hopping, the Allies were approaching Japan, and planned to use Okinawa as a base for air operations on the planned invasion of Japanese mainland, coded Operation Downfall...

Illegal Amnesty

National Review editorial, 16 June 2012

Though apparently a little fuzzy on the subject of judicial review, President Barack Obama is supposed to be a constitutional scholar of some sort. On the subject of his decision yesterday to unilaterally enact sweeping changes to U.S. immigration policy on nothing but his own say-so, we would like to introduce Barack Obama to Barack Obama, who during a Univision interview just last year affirmed: “America is a nation of laws, which means I, as the president, am obligated to enforce the law...”

Latest in Leak Farce: the ‘Special Counsel’ folly

by Andrew C. McCarthy, 9 June 2012

... With Beltway fixtures John McCain and Lindsey Graham pointing the way, the GOP has loudly demanded that Attorney General Eric Holder name a “special counsel” to investigate Obama administration leaks of national defense information to the New York Times. Seeing his opportunity to bury this embarrassing episode until after the November election, Holder is naturally accommodating them...

Christianity is not for quitters

by William Doyno Jr., 4 June 2012

...One of the ironies of the new Christian pessimism is how much it serves the interests of secular progressives. Nothing pleases the latter more than to hear an active Christian suddenly announce they have given up—that, whereas they once believed in the power of religion to revive cultures, they no longer do. Having once been so blind, they've now matured and “retired” from the culture wars, ceding all ground to their opponents...

Governor Walker's victory spells doom for public sector unions

by Bill Frezza, 5 June 2012

...This fight is not without precedent. Progressive patron saint Franklin Delano Roosevelt—who more than any other president set our country on a course away from the founding principles of limited government—knew that public sector unions would be the death of the social welfare state he worked so hard to create. Hence, he consistently opposed allowing government employees to unionize. Today, Greece sets the example of what happens when public sector unions gain the upper hand....

The Socialist Mask of Marxism

by Ion Mihai Pacepa, 4 June 2012

...Marxism is a malignant tumor on the body of any country. This is another thing I learned during my years at the top of Marxist Romania. Marxism, like any cancer, works silently—you can feel it only after it has spread throughout the whole body, and then it is usually too late. The sudden, almost overnight, collapse of the almighty Soviet empire is incontestable proof to that...

Marine aviators at the Battle of Midway

by Mike Johnson, 2 June 2012

Perhaps the very best account of the battle is in this wonderful book. Most of our aircraft were inferior to those flown by the Japs. All the U.S. pilots knew the odds were badly against them. Owing to the exigencies of battle, many of those in the worst planes knew that death was certain. They did their duty nonetheless.
